INTRODUCTION

R. L. POLK & CO., publishers of the San Francisco Directory, as well as more than 700 other city county, state and national directories, present to subscribers and the general public, this, the 1939 edition of the San Francisco Directory.

Confidence in the growth of San Francisco's wealth, industry and population, and in the advancement of its municipal and social activities, will be created as sections of this directory are consulted, for the directory is a mirror truly reflecting San Francisco to the world.

The enviable place occupied by R. L. POLK & CO.'s directories in offices, stores, libraries and homes throughout the country has been established by rendering the best in directory service. With an unrivaled organization, having the courteous and hearty cooperation of the business and professional men and residents, the publishers feel that the result of their labors will meet with the approval of every user, and that the San Francisco Directory will fulfill its mission as a source of authentic information pertaining to the city.

FIVE MAJOR DEPARTMENTS

The several essential departments are arranged in the following order:

THE HONOR ROLL, pages 8A to 8D, a new feature, is an alphabetical list of the San Francisco commercial, industrial and professional concerns that have demonstrated their confidence in the City Directory as an advertising medium, and thereby insured its regular publication.

THE STREET AND AVENUE GUIDE is embraced in pages 17 to 34; in this feature the names of all streets and avenues are arranged alphabetically, giving beginning and ending, and line of general direction.

THE ALPHABETICAL LIST OF NAMES of residents, business firms and corporations is included in pages 37 to 1416.

THE BUYERS' GUIDE, opposite page 1416, printed on tinted paper, contains the advertisements of leading manufacturing, business and professional interests of San Francisco. These pages will be found particularly interesting and instructive to substantial purchasing factors. The advertisements have been carefully grouped by departments and are indexed under headings descriptive of the business represented. This is reference advertising at its best, and, as such, merits a survey by all buyers anxious to familiarize themselves with sources of supply. The city's activities, in many interesting phases, are authentically pictured. In an ambitious and progressive community like San Francisco, the necessity of having this kind of information available is very great and, frequently, pressing. General appreciation of this fact is evidenced by the liberal support the city directory enjoys in the many fields which it serves.

THE CLASSIFIED BUSINESS DIRECTORY is included in pages 1417 to 1586. This department lists the various manufacturing, mercantile and professional interests in alphabetical order under appropriate headings. This feature constitutes an invaluable and indispensable epitome of the business interests of the community. "The Directory is the common intermediary between Buyer and Seller." As such it plays no small part in the daily doings of the business world. "More goods are bought and sold through the Classified Business Directory than through any other medium."

MUNICIPAL PUBLICITY

The directory reflects the achievements and ambitions of the city, depicting in truthful terms what it has to offer as a place of residence, as a business location, as an industrial site and as an educational center. To broadcast this information, the publishers have placed copies of this issue of the directory in Director Libraries, where they are readily available for free public reference and serve as perpetual and reliable advertisements of San Francisco, for business men, everywhere, realize that the city directory represents a community as it really is.

THE SAN FRANCISCO DIRECTORY LIBRARY

Through the courtesy of the publishers of the San Francisco City Directory, a Directory Library is maintained in the offices of the publishers at 604 Mission street, for free reference by the general public. This library is one of the system of more than 450 installed and operated in the chief cities of the U. S. and Canada, under the supervision of the Association of North American Directory Publishers, of which R. L. Polk & Co. is a member.

The publishers appreciatively acknowledge the recognition by those progressive business and professional men who have demonstrated their confidence in the city directory as an advertising medium, with assurance that it will bring a commensurate return.

R. L. POLK & CO., Publishers.

SAN FRANCISCO

(Prepared by the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce)

HISTORICAL

San Francisco is located centrally on the coast in 37° 47′ 22-25″ N. Latitude and 122° 25′ 40-76″ W. Longitude and situated on a peninsula bounded on the west by the Pacific Ocean, the north and east by the Bay of San Francisco and on the south by wooded hills and fertile valleys. Its elevation extends from sea level to 965 feet. The city covers an area of about 45.2 square miles and is built principally on hills. The population as of January 1, 1939, amounted to 761,654.

The San Francisco Bay Region was discovered in July, 1769, by Don Gaspar de Portola's soldiers, who were seeking the Monterey Bay. In 1775 Don Manuel Ayala sailed the first ship through the Golden Gate into the San Francisco Bay. The San Carlos was the name of the vessel.

Years before, however, Sir Francis Drake brought his vessel, the Golden Hind, close to the Golden Gate and ran her ashore at what is now known as Drake's Bay. This was in 1579 and the first religious service in the English language was held on the Pacific Coast by the chaplain of the Golden Hind.

In 1776 a land expedition commanded by Colonel Juan Bautista de Anza arrived on the San Francisco peninsula and established the Presidio and the Mission Dolores. In 1777 Padre Junipero Serra, father of the California missions, arrived in San Francisco. The settlement was known as Yerba Buena until 1847, when it became San Francisco.

In 1806 the Russians attempted to establish themselves in and about San Francisco. They established a settlement at Fort Ross, near Santa Rosa, but after a few years gave it up, disposing of all movable fixtures and arms to Capt. John A. Sutter of Sacramento.

In 1846 war was declared by the United States on Mexico and on July 9, 1848, Capt. John B. Montgomery of the United States Navy arrived in the sloop-of-war "Portsmouth" and raised the American flag in what is now Portsmouth Square; thus without great excitement San Francisco passed from Spanish to Mexican and finally American rule.

San Francisco's greatest excitement perhaps came with the discovery of gold in 1848. People rushed here by every known mode of transportation and in thousands. The population increased steadily and the port became the most important on the Pacific Coast, which position it has steadily maintained.

Because of the number of lawless individuals during the fifties, the citizens organized the Vigilance Committee and after a short campaign succeeded in ridding the city of the law breakers.

GOVERNMENT

San Francisco has a combined City and County Government functioning as a Municipal Corporation, which began January 8, 1932, to operate under a new Charter (Freeholders). Under this new Charter the Legislative Powers are vested in a Board of Supervisors consisting of 11 members. The Administrative Powers are vested in a Mayor and a Chief Administrative Officer, the latter appointed by the Mayor. The people elect the Mayor, Assessor, Treasurer, Sheriff, Public Defender, Supervisors, District Attorney, City Attorney, Municipal and Superior Court Judges and the members of the Board of Education.

The salary of the Mayor is $10,000 per year and the major Departments under him include the Police, Fire, Park, Recreation, and Library, the Art Commission, the Utilities Commission, Civil Service Commission, and City Planning Commission.

The Chief Administrative Officer, appointed by the Mayor, receives a salary of $12,000 a year and has under him the following: Departments of Finance and Records, Purchasing, Real Estate, Department of Public Works, Department of Electricity, Street Traffic Advisory Board, Department of Public Health, County Welfare Department, Coroner's Office, Horticultural Inspection Department, and Department of Weights and Measures.

The Controller is responsible to the Mayor and is appointed by him subject to the confirmation and approval of the Board of Supervisors.

HARBOR AND COMMERCE

Centered in the San Francisco Bay Area, San Francisco is an important port of general commerce, handling a large and valuable domestic and foreign trade. It is the main gateway of commerce for the vast territory of the Central Pacific Coast Area and Intermountain States. The Bay extends from the Golden Gate to the confluence of the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers on the northeast, and to a point near San Jose on the south, covering an area of 450 square miles. The deep-water commerce enters San Francisco Bay through the Golden Gate, which is but one mile wide, thus affording natural protection from the ocean to the waters of the San Francisco Bay. To this has been added the most comprehensive docking and berthing facilities, rail and freight connections, modern and well-equipped warehouses, etc. San Francisco harbor has 17.5 miles of berthing space and this is constantly being added to; there are 195.62 acres of pier and wharf area with a capacity of 2,030,600 tons of cargo; 43 modern piers, facilities to dock the largest vessels; seven drydocks; 16 spur tracks; 66 miles of harbor trackage connecting piers and warehouses; car capacity for 3600 cars; 42 cranes, derricks and aerials.

The harbor is controlled by the State of California and is governed by a board of harbor commissioners appointed by the Governor. Of the 43 piers, most of them are assigned to steamship companies having their own fleets and operating their own schedules. San Francisco harbor facilities are valued at $100,000,000.

The water-borne commerce of San Francisco has trebled since pre-war days and now ranks second in value of all ports in the United States, and outranking all other Pacific Coast ports by nearly $170,000,000 annually.

Arrivals and departures of vessels show the following increases:

	Arrivals	Registered Tonnage	Departures	Registered Tonnage
1923.....	6792	15,049,446	6830	14,802,870
1938.....	5140	17,248,061	5121	7,512,629

Exports during 1937 amounted to.....$136,024,000
Imports during 1937 amounted to.....$ 90,876,393

The principal exports by value are bulk oil, dried and canned fruits, cotton, machine parts, barley, fresh fruits, auto parts, and canned fish.

The principal imports are coffee, copra, paper, burlap and whiskey.

The 1938 report of the U. S. Army Engineers shows the distribution of the cargo tonnage, domestic and foreign, during 1937 as follows:

Total tonnage, San Francisco Bay.....	28,812,967 Tons
Foreign tonnage	4,328,550 "
Inland waterway tonnage	7,952,590 "
Domestic Coastwise and Intercoastal tonnage	16,531,827 "

Besides the movement of commodities by water, there is a large rail traffic in San Francisco; during 1937 it reached 217,949 carloadings and unloadings, not including less-than-carload business.

San Francisco is also the ocean port for the great inland empire of California, 500 miles in length, 50 miles wide and containing 16,100,000 acres of irrigable land, 5,000,000 acres of which is under irrigation. Approximately 33 per cent of the tonnage of the port is received from points on the Sacramento and San Joaquin Rivers, which drain a large portion of the "back country."

San Francisco is the port of call for 177 steamship lines

TRANSPORTATION

San Francisco is the terminus of three Class I railroads and a number of short lines. These railroads thoroughly blanket California and neighboring States, and by means of seven major transcontinental routes with convenient connections, provide fast, dependable service to and from all parts of the United States, Canada and Mexico. Passenger trains, second to none, are operated to and from the city.

All railroads connect with the State Belt Railroad serving the San Francisco waterfront and many industries, and absorb the switching charges on line haul carload traffic. Reciprocal arrangements between all lines permit efficient handling of cars within the switching limits at rates ranging from 37c to 69c per ton. Trap car privileges are available. Between all points in the San Francisco switching limits and those of Oakland and Richmond the rate is 77c per ton, minimum charge $16.50 per car.

Overnight freight service is provided to Los Angeles, to most points in the San Joaquin and Sacramento Valleys, to numerous points along the coast, to southern Oregon and western Nevada. A greater proportion of the territory west of the Rocky Mountains is reached to advantage from San Francisco than from any other Pacific Coast port.

Store door pick-up and delivery for less than carload traffic is available between San Francisco and many points in Arizona, Nevada, Utah, Idaho and Oregon.

Intercoastal water rates bring San Francisco as close to the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts as Chicago and northern Mississippi Valley points. Sailings to Atlantic Coast ports average 25 per month; to Gulf ports six per month.

Departures for the Hawaiian Islands average 10 per month.

Over fifty steamship lines operate between San Francisco and foreign ports providing frequent passenger and freight service to and from the major ports, in the Orient, Australia, New Zealand, the South Sea Islands, both coasts of Central and South America, northern and Southern Europe and certain ports in Africa. Round-the-world liners leave San Francisco monthly. San Francisco is the home port of some of the most luxurious passenger lines operating on the Pacific Coast.

Coastwise lines furnish frequent service between San Francisco and other ports in California, Oregon, Washington, and British Columbia. A huge fleet of inland water carriers ranging from palatial passenger steamers to humble barges navigate San Francisco Bay and waters tributary thereto, carrying an immense tonnage to and from the ultra-modern docks of the city.

San Francisco is the focal point of two new great bridges, the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge, a link in both U. S. Highways No. 40 and No. 50, and the Golden Gate Bridge, a link in U. S. Highway 101.

Over thirty common carrier truck lines provide scheduled services between San Francisco and points in California and neighboring states. In addition, more than 600 truck operators having headquarters or agencies in San Francisco hold intrastate contract carrier, radial common carrier, or city carrier permits from the Railroad Commission of California or interstate contract carrier permits from the Interstate Commerce Commission. All rates and services are subject to regulation by these Commissions.

Bus lines which are also under regulation radiate north, east and south providing fast, commodious passenger service between San Francisco and all important points in California and the eleven Western States. There are also four transcontinental bus services. In addition, there are numerous sightseeing tours operating between San Francisco and neighboring points of interest. Busses are always available for charter parties.

Three modern air terminals in the San Francisco Bay Area are within thirty minutes of the heart of San Francisco. The recently enlarged Municipal Airport is the focal point of transcontinental and north/south services by the most modern transport planes. San Francisco is the eastern terminus for the famous clippers providing service to and from the Hawaiian Islands, Philippine Islands and the Orient. Service to and from Australia and New Zealand is in process of development.

MANUFACTURES

The manufacturing industries in San Francisco comprise an important part of the city's activities, leading in number of employees and amount of payroll nine major activities in San Francisco. One-quarter of all the people engaged in industry and business in San Francisco are employed by the manufacturing industries. The annual payroll amounts to $57,927,000 or 22 per cent of the 1935 total reported by the U. S. Census for San Francisco.

The value of manufactures in 1937 is estimated at $311,033,000, compared to $287,461,000 as reported in the 1935 United States Census.

San Francisco East Bay Terminal (at Mission and First streets) is a $2,000,000 structure opened to interurban train service January 15, 1939.

PARKS

San Francisco is noted for its beautiful and extensive parks. There are 45 parks and 66 recreational units, with a total acreage of 4579, others are under development. In addition to the municipal parks, the several government reservations, the largest of which is the Presidio, comprising 1542 acres, all go toward augmenting the aggregate area of the city parks. The area given does not include the numerous golf courses in and about the city. More than $15,000,000 has been expended on municipal parks since 1870. All of San Francisco's parks are "man-made." Originally only sand dunes marked the spots where today are gardens of rarest flowers, shrubs and giant trees. Even lakes, streams, waterfalls, hills, valleys and dales were worked out by man, to say nothing of the miles of walks, bridle paths and boulevards traversing the parks. Golden Gate Park is one of the world's most noted playgrounds. It comprises 1013 acres and is about 3 miles long and a half-mile wide, extending from Stanyan street on the east to the Pacific Ocean on the west and lies in the midst of San Francisco's choice residential districts.

In the park are many museums, monuments, an aviary, aquarium, music temple, stadium, tennis courts, baseball grounds, football grounds, trotting and pacing horse track, athletic field and running track paddocks, and children's playgrounds. There are more than 25 miles of improved driveways in the park. Wild animals of many species are to be seen, while every bird and squirrel known to California roams or flies at will through the dense woods and shrubbery. At the western end of the park is to be seen the sloop "Gjoa," the only vessel that ever navigated the Northwest Passage, and which was given to San Francisco by its owner and explorer, Captain Roald Amundsen, discoverer of the South Pole also; the gift was accepted by San Francisco June 16, 1909. The ship was hauled upon the beach and is protected by a high iron fence.

SOCIAL

San Francisco has more than 300 churches, representing many denominations. The congregations of the churches include people of many nationalities, such as English, German, Italian, French, Spanish, Scandinavian, Russian and Chinese.

There are numerous societies, clubs, lodges, and fraternal groups beside the civic, historical, military, religious and sporting groups. San Francisco contains many foreign colonies, where the daily life and social events familiar to their native countries have been reestablished here.

The cosmopolitan character of San Francisco is well portrayed by the many interesting and diversified events which take place daily. The citizen or visitor may find many educational things of interest, such as lectures, concerts, readings, recitals, special exhibits of drawing, painting, sculpture, and other works of art.

There are two public art galleries and several semi-public galleries which offer exhibits and collections of national and international fame.

There is a main public library in the Civic Center with 21 branches and 6 depositories. This system has 520,000 volumes. There are 97 private and special libraries, including technical and institutional. There are also numerous circulating libraries.

The Municipal Auditorium, with a seating capacity of 11,000, contains a magnificent organ and is in use for a variety of events daily throughout the year. The Civic Opera House and the War Memorial Building provide a home for opera, the symphony orchestra, and a permanent war relics museum. San Francisco is the first city in the nation to have a civic opera house. It has a seating capacity of 3285.

HEALTH

San Francisco is a clean city with a cool, bracing, equable all-year-round open climate. The Daily Mean Maximum Temperature is 62.6 degrees, and the Daily Mean Minimum Temperature is 50.2 degrees, with an average daily range of 12.2 degrees. A study of the air conditions in twenty-three prominent cities in the United States places San Francisco in the front rank, second only to Boston. The sun shone sixty-six out of every one hundred possible hours, according to the Weather Bureau Records, for a period of more than 20 years.

GOLDEN GATE INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION 1939

The Golden Gate International Exposition, designated by Congressional and Presidential action as America's official World's Fair on the Pacific Coast, opened February 18 and will close December 2 of 1939. Its site is 400-acre Treasure Island, reclaimed for the purpose in the center of San Francisco Bay and described as the largest island ever built by man.

The Exposition celebrates completion of the $78,000,000 San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge, longest and most costly bridge in the world; the $35,000,000 Golden Gate Bridge, longest single span in the world; the aerial "bridging" of the Pacific Ocean by scheduled passenger and mail flights of the Clipper Ships, and the development of huge electrical horsepower by new hydro-electrical projects in the Western mountains, particularly Boulder, Bonneville and Grand Coulee dams.

The Treasure Island fill totals 20,000,000 cubic yards of black sand, bound by 287,000 tons of rock in a sea wall. This World's Fair site is 5520 feet long by 3400 feet wide, stands 13 feet above mean lower water, and is connected to Yerba Buena Island by a causeway 900 feet long and 110 feet wide. The U. S. Engineering Department carried out the reclamation, which was completed in 1937 under an authorized WPA appropriation of $3,803,900 sponsored by the Exposition Company.

After the close of the 1939 World's Fair, Treasure Island will become an airport operated by the City and County of San Francisco for the benefit of cities surrounding the harbor, with a combined population approaching 2,000,000—perhaps the most centralized airport in the world. Direct highway connection with the Bay Bridge brings the Island within ten minutes, by motor car, of downtown San Francisco and central Oakland.

The Island's double function made possible a dual program of construction. Three buildings, completed in 1937, are permanent in concrete and steel as airport facilities at a total cost of $2,000,000. Two hangars, each 287 by 335 feet and 76 feet high, serve the Fair as exhibit palaces, and a three-story concrete Air Terminal building houses administrative offices of the Exposition.

The remainder of the Exposition's $18,600,000 construction schedule is of timber, bolted together to facilitate removal from airport runways after the Fair. Core of the building program is a central court and 400-foot tower, from which radiate plazas framed by six great blocks of exhibit palaces averaging 200 feet wide and ranging from 400 to 900 feet in length.

Dual function is recognized also in highway construction. Three lanes between Island and Bay Bridge are a permanent installation to serve the airport; three additional lanes are built, where necessary, on timber trestlework to reduce excavation, and will be removed at the close of the Fair. An elaborate grade separation will handle traffic on and off the bridge by right turns only, eliminating the hazard of turns across traffic.

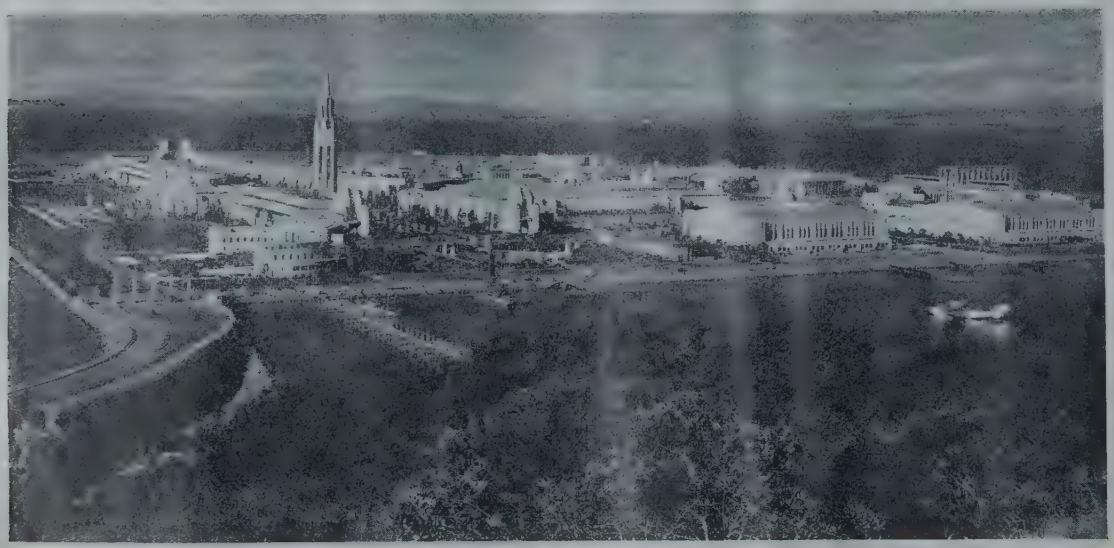
Exposition highways are planned to handle 3000 cars hourly between the bridge and a 12,000-car parking lot on the Island. Mass transportation will be accommodated by ferry boats plying from three slips on the San Francisco side of the Island and one on the Oakland shore. First World's Fair ever beyond the reach of pedestrian approach, these transit facilities will handle visitors at the peak rate of 65,000 hourly.

Architecture, illumination and landscaping were combined to take complete advantage of the Exposition's spectacularly beautiful setting in the center of San Francisco Bay, and create an effect that carries out the "Pageant of the Pacific" theme of the Fair. Basic architectural forms are borrowed from older civilizations around the Pacific, particularly the Mayan, Cambodian, Incan and Malayan, for a massed effect of stepped setbacks that are enhanced by horticultural plantings along the baselines, and lighting effects to lend an atmosphere of spacious mystery to the skyline.

Approximately $1,500,000 was spent for landscaping and horticulture, which is lavishly colored and largely sub-tropical in keeping with the Exposition's California setting. More than four thousand trees, 70,000 shrubs and literally millions of flowering plants were employed; one feature is a "Persian Prayer Rug" of mesembryanthemum covering 25 acres. Interior courts of the World's Fair city were treated under separate color schemes, with species selected for similarity in the hues of their blooms, and night lighting preserves the distinctive character of each court while maintaining the harmony of the whole.



Treasure Island as seen from the heights of nearby Yerba Buena Island. As shown, the site of the Golden Gate International Exposition is connected to Yerba Buena (both islands centering the Bay of San Francisco) by a six-lane, 900-foot causeway. In immediate foreground is Port of the Trade Winds, where the famed new Super-Clippers of Pan-American Airways make their base, winging in and out between the Western United States and Hong Kong. One of the new 74-passenger ships of the air is seen at right. At left are the 100 berths, providing accommodations for both resident and visiting yachtsmen.

GOVERNMENTAL PARTICIPATION

The Golden Gate International Exposition is designated as America's official World's Fair of the West. The Federal Government appropriated $1,500,000 for its participation, and is represented by a stately building and comprehensive national exhibits, with George Creel, eminent writer and publicist, as Commissioner in charge. The seven-acre building, costing $600,000 faces the Court of the Nation, where ceremonies, concerts, army maneuvers and pageantry will be held during the 288 days of the Fair. Exhibits explain every phase of governmental activity; there is an elaborate Indian presentation, and moored at the Federal wharf will be sea-going vessels drawn from government services.

The Territory of Hawaii occupies 21,000 square feet in the Pacific Basin, with a pavilion typical of Polynesian life. The Netherlands East Indies has erected a spacious pavilion, redolent of the atmosphere of the "Spice Islands" and decorated by bas-reliefs copied from famed ruins of Boroboeder and ancient jungle temples. Norway's building is a reproduction of a Norwegian ski lodge, and Japan's medieval castle and Samurai house, representative of Nipponese tradition, stress the cultural, industrial and tourist sides of Japanese life.

Johore is in a replica of the Johore Dewan, or council house, with a display featuring tourism and big game hunting. French Indo-China's two-story building, fabricated in Saigon and shipped in sections, was the first foreign building to reach Treasure Island. France has built an elaborate pavilion for a display of arts and crafts, de luxe trades and travel. New Zealand's building bears the facade of a Maori house.

The Philippine Commonwealth is represented by a Spanish Colonial pavilion occupying two sides of a square; Australia's pavilion presents the unusual flora and fauna found "down under," and Peru's building traces the roots of modern civilization back to pre-Incan times. Italy's elaborate marble palace stresses travel and tourism, and Brazil's gay pavilion combines the cultural and commercial attractions. Argentina's building is modernistic, and Chile chose a pavilion of native design. El Salvador's building combines a tourist, agricultural and commercial display.

Other nations exhibiting in their own buildings include Guatemala, Ecuador, Mexico, Colombia, and Panama. In the International Hall, one of the main palaces, the list of foreign countries represented by exhibits includes Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Sweden, Portugal, Holland, and Greece. British Columbia, although a foreign governmental unit, is exhibiting in the Hall of Western States.

Central theme structure among all these contrasting cultures is Pacific House, an imposing cruciform structure standing on an island in the center of the Pacific Basin lagoons. Many an international congress will be held here in 1939, with commissions from many countries assembled to discuss problems and plans of mutual importance. Still more interesting, to the casual visitor, are the Covarrubias mural maps of Pacific peoples, and Sotomayor's novel relief map in the rotunda of Pacific House—a new projection which centers the Pacific area. Striking decorative technic distinguishes the building, which houses exhibits dealing largely with health, geography, and industrial evolution.

These nations, each intent upon bringing out its best features and not too dignified to add characteristic touches to Treasure Island fun, will make the Pageant of the Pacific memorable.

STATE PARTICIPATION

California's appropriation of $5,000,000 for the story of the Golden State was a major factor in enlisting the aid and support of her sisters. Seventeen big buildings, plus active participation in affairs at many points on Treasure Island, are required to tell this story. The climax building of the State group is the California Hospitality Building, and surrounding it are ten others dedicated to groups of California's 58 counties. These include structures for the Redwood Empire, Mission Trails counties, Shasta-Cascade, Alameda-Contra Costa, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Sacramento Valley-Mountain, San Joaquin, Southern California and Alta California counties.

California is the sponsor, also, of the Livestock Coliseum, where "fifteen years of livestock shows in forty weeks" will make history. Shows will be held throughout the Fair in close succession, including international competition in nearly every breed of livestock.

Other buildings are devoted to Agriculture, the Dairy Industry, Floriculture, Recreation (stressing the crafts and the hobbies, with work-benches ready for use), and the Press. There is also the California Auditorium, center for large indoor gatherings on Treasure Island.

Nearly all these buildings, strikingly modern in architecture, are unique in their use of plywood as an exterior construction material and as a structural bracing agent. This "pioneering" may have a sweeping effect upon the construction of low-cost homes, since plywood effects certain economies in design and construction.

Another ranking State Participation building is the Hall of Western States, where the sponsors of the Western World's Fair tell their economic and agricultural stories. British Columbia is included here with California, Oregon, Washington, Wyoming, Montana, Idaho, Nevada, Utah, Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico. In the court of this building is a gigantic relief map of the Western Wonderland, on a scale of one inch to the mile, which portrays natural resources and their development with an accuracy never before attempted.

Missouri's building is a Colonial type, with a complete cross-section of the "Show Me" state, graphically presented. The modernistic pavilion of Illinois traces commerce and culture from Abraham Lincoln's day to modern Chicago, and Texas presents a pictorial summary of assets.

INDUSTRIAL PARTICIPATION

More than 350 outstanding American industries are exhibiting at the Exposition, either in their own buildings or with splendid displays in the great exhibit halls that radiate from the Tower of the Sun.

The Hall of Foods and Beverages dramatizes the food and drink industries, following the product in graphic detail from the field through processing and packaging to distribution and the table. Agricultural developments in the field of chemical farming receive close attention, and "meals in pills" are demonstrated.

In the Hall of Science the emphasis is on the science of sound living, the removal of mystery from medicine, the prevention—rather than the cure—of disease. Thirty of America's leading research laboratories, including the Mayo Clinic, Jackson Clinic, American Medical Association, universities from Harvard to Stanford, and other ranking medical influences have cooperated in dramatizing and "humanizing" the medical arts. The University of California presents an amazing scientific display, interpreted for the layman.

The Hall of Mines, Metals and Machinery contains, as its outstanding feature a million-dollar "Treasure Mountain" that presents a complete picture of the western mining industry. The visitor enters a valley between two tall mountain ranges; he is conducted into tunnels and shafts to witness the inside workings. Hydraulic mining, railroads, elevators, mills, gold dredges, and California mining towns in exact detail also are shown.

An innovation in World's Fair technique is the Vacationland building, sponsored by transportation lines, motor manufacturers and clubs, travel bureaus, regional groups and other interests allied with the urge to travel. Vacationland summarizes the scenic and recreational allure of the million square miles that make up the West. It is "all outdoors brought under roof," and from this huge sample room of sports and scenery the visitor may select his detours on the return home, his destination for next year's trip.

In other great halls the modern manifestations of Agriculture, of Electricity and Communication, of Air Transportation, of International displays not found in the Pacific Basin, are treated as fully. Homes and Gardens receive adequate attention, even by California standards, in a double building filled with the finest offerings of architect, builder and equipment specialist, in addition to outdoor model homes.

Bank of America maintains a complete branch bank, staffed with linguists so that visitors from whatever nation may transact business in native tongue. Ford Motor Company has invested more than $500,000 in its building and in elaborate automotive displays. National Cash Register's building is an enormous cash register that "rings up" the millions as they enter the gates of the Western World's Fair. The Christian Science group has erected a building containing a reading room, a demonstration of the production of the Christian Science Monitor, and other exhibits. The Christian Business Men's Committee houses its dramatic display in a modern Le Tourneau steel house.

Another modern steel home on Treasure Island, the Compton, is built without corners, and is automatically air-conditioned; a third, the Soule, contrasts with a nearby adobe house. The pictures of every stage of its construction are shown. Ghirardelli's building houses demonstrations of production, and hot chocolate is served. The Oakwood Barbecue, a $75,000 project, is one of a number of prepared-food concessions that embraces the international range of cookery; Crillo's is another of the pioneers. The Owl Drug Company operates a complete drug store.

An outstanding "inside" exhibit is the Petroleum Group, in the Vacationland building. Against a dramatic background including cascades and shimmering bubbles of oil encased in glass, the petroleum industry tells the "human interest story" of oil. Tomorrow's city is shown by United States Steel subsidiaries, and Bethlehem Steel shows the countless contributions of steel to the luxury and pleasure of modern living. Chrysler and General Motors exhibits also are imposing, and RCA explains television.

Two novel "group" exhibits are those of Sleeper, Inc., demonstrating the science of sound sleep, and Viticultural Industries, Inc., presenting the past and future history of fine wines. General Electric stages an ultra-modern version of its House of Magic; a total of 29 firms are exhibiting uses of natural gas through the Pacific Coast Gas Association; the Salvation Army presents a review of its work, and there are other notable exhibits, far too numerous to mention.

Everywhere exhibitors have aimed at constant motion in their displays, with significant points in the production and use of their articles or services. The "static" type of exhibit is rare, and many of the concerns are keying their displays into the recreational theme of the Western World's Fair.

Static exhibits are avoided on Treasure Island, which seeks in every field a vitalized or operating demonstration of the product, the nationality, the scientific principle that is the feature of the individual display. Windowless exhibit palaces permit uniform illumination by day or night; the ground plan of the compact Exposition city circulates visitors by direct and natural routes throughout the Island, avoiding congestion and exhaustion.

The broad program of musical events includes outstanding symphony orchestras, choral groups and individual artists. A full calendar of land and water sports will round out the entertainment, with carnival features in the 40-acre fun zone carrying out the Pageant of the Pacific motif. Eating and dancing, particularly, is international in scope.

Financing of the Western World's Fair of 1939 is based upon WPA and PWA grants approximating $6,250,000, used in construction phases of dual utility for Exposition and later airport value. Second unit was a campaign to raise $7,500,000 in public subscriptions, which will be refunded in whole or in part as the final surplus permits. Receipts from rental of exhibit space, concession privileges, advance admissions and other income completed the construction program and launched the Fair into its operating period. Including California's $5,000,000 appropriation, the Federal Government's $1,500,000, and the expenditures of industrial and governmental exhibitors on Treasure Island, the scope of the Fair is estimated at $50,000,000.

STREET AND AVENUE GUIDE

1939

Copyright, 1939, by R. L. Polk & Co.

EXPLANATIONS

In the following list the streets are arranged in alphabetical order.

According to the method adopted in this city for numbering buildings, Market Street is the starting point for numbers on all streets running from it in a northerly, southerly or westerly direction, and the water front for all streets running therefrom in a westerly or southwesterly direction. The numbers on all streets not commencing at Market Street or the water front run in conformity with the numbers of the main streets running parallel with them, except in the case of a few streets which are numbered in an irregular manner.

On all streets between the water front and Central Avenue the even numbers are on the right-hand side, and the odd numbers on the left, starting from the point of beginning. Beyond Central Avenue most of the streets have been numbered in a contrary manner. One hundred numbers, or as many thereof as are necessary, are allotted to each block bounded by main streets; for instance, Montgomery Street commences at Market, and the main streets crossing as you proceed north are Sutter, Bush, Pine, etc. Therefore, any numbers between 1 and 100 will be found on the right or left-hand side of the street between Market and Sutter, between 100 and 200 from Sutter to Bush, between 200 and 300 from Bush to Pine.

In the streets which are numbered, a dash (—) indicates that the cross street does not extend to that side; (o), the street borders on the bay, or public park, cemetery, etc., consequently there are no buildings on blocks thus designated; (c), the street is not opened through the block, or is interrupted in its course at that point by a public square, cemetery, etc.; (e), end of street.
